Do You Have A Safety Net?

Are you prepared for a financial emergency? Have you set aside money for unexpected expenses? Do you have insurance? Without a good financial safety net, you could find yourself in financial ruin.

Financial advisors suggest having enough savings to cover up to six months of living expenses. This money should be in a liquid account, that you can access without paying a penalty.

If you don't have an emergency fund, your options for paying an unexpected expense may end up going on a credit card. If this is the only option, try to find a low interest rate card. Try not to tap into retirement assets.

How do you start? First, consider automatic deductions from your paycheck. Put this money directly into a savings account. Second, look closely at your expenses. Can you reduce them? By saving just $10 a month, you can add $120 to your savings account in one year. Finally, consolidate your debt to the lowest interest rate and pay it down as quickly as you can. These three steps can help you create a financial cushion — one that hopefully you won't have to use!
